The Working Group on Responsible Conduct is a joint initiative between the Union of BC Municipalities, the Local Government Management Association, and the Ministry of Municipal Affairs. The Group was formed to undertake collaborative research and policy work around issues of responsible conduct of local government elected officials.

INTRODUCTION & EXPLANATORY NOTES

What is a code of conduct?

- A code of conduct is a written document that sets shared expectations for conduct or behaviour. A local government council or board can adopt a code of conduct to establish shared expectations for how members should conduct themselves while carrying out their responsibilities and in their work as a collective decision-making body for their community.
- Responsible conduct of elected officials is not optional; it is essential to good governance. Responsible conduct refers to how government elected officials conduct themselves with their elected colleagues, with staff, and with the public. It is grounded in conducting oneself according to principles such as integrity, accountability, respect, and leadership and collaboration.
- A code of conduct is one tool that can be used by a local government council or board to promote or further responsible conduct. See the Forging the Path to Responsible Conduct in Your Local Government guide for complementary tools.

What is the purpose of this document?

- The purpose of this document is to provide local government council or board members with a model code of conduct which establishes a set of principles and general standards of conduct that can be used as a starting point to develop their own code of conduct.
- This model code of conduct may also be useful for councils or boards who already have a code of conduct in place but are required to consider updating their code following the 2022 general local elections.
- The Working Group on Responsible Conduct has also developed a “Companion Guide” to accompany this document that provides discussion questions, things to keep in mind, and other tips to facilitate a council or board’s conversation in developing a code of conduct.
- The general standards of conduct set out in this model code of conduct reflect the foundational principles of integrity, respect, accountability, and leadership and collaboration. Local governments are required to reflect on these principles when considering whether to establish or update a code of conduct.
- Councils or boards may choose to customize and expand on the general standards of conduct provided in this model code of conduct by:
  - Adding examples of specific behaviours or other details to further elaborate on the standards of conduct that are provided;
  - Including additional standards of conduct that address topics of importance to the council or board and which are not directly dealt with by the standards of conduct already provided;
  - Including additional provisions in the code of conduct to support compliance or to cover informal resolution processes, formal enforcement processes such as complaints investigation and final resolution, and sanctions; and/or

- Incorporating, referencing or attaching other policies that are generally related to responsible conduct (such as social media policies), where a council or board feels it is appropriate.

What are some considerations in developing and using a code of conduct?

- In developing a code of conduct, council or board members should consider not just the content of the code of conduct, but also how to make it meaningful for members, both as individuals and as a collective decision-making body. While there is no ‘right’ way to develop and use a code of conduct, councils or boards should consider the following to maximize the effectiveness of their code of conduct:
  - Don’t overlook the importance of the process when developing and adopting a code of conduct: How a code of conduct is developed and adopted matters; providing opportunities for council or board members to discuss not just the “what” but also the “why” of a code of conduct will help ensure its effectiveness.

To start with, understanding the context for developing and adopting a code of conduct is important – is the council or board being proactive or have there been particular incidents of concern; does the council or board need to consider its collective “blind spots”, such as identifying and airing subconscious assumptions or systemic barriers? Discussing the language and content of the code of conduct and how it can best be customized to meet the needs of the council or board and individual members is also important. Discussing shared expectations as a part of the orientation process for newly elected officials or including the code of conduct as an outcome of a strategic planning process (with dedicated follow-up opportunities for development) could be good ways of ensuring a code of conduct is adopted in a meaningful way.

- Make the code of conduct meaningful: Finding ways to integrate the code of conduct into the council or board’s ongoing governance will help ensure that it remains a relevant and effective living document. For instance, some councils or boards may choose to refer to the code of conduct at every meeting; others may have a copy included in every agenda package or framed on the wall in the meeting room or placed on the desk of each elected official as a regular point of reference.
- Make sure the code of conduct is consistent with existing laws and policies: Council or board members may include a variety of topics in their code of conduct. Where existing laws or policies deal with topics they choose to include in their code of conduct (i.e., privacy legislation; Human Resources policies; etc.), they must ensure that their code of conduct is consistent with those laws and policies.
- Offer ongoing advice, education, and support: A council or board will also want to consider how members can best be supported in working with their code of conduct. This could include, for example, general education around the purpose of codes of conduct, opportunities for members to receive specific advice on how the code of conduct should be interpreted and applied, as well as other ongoing opportunities for support and education – for example, orientation when new members join the council or board or regular debriefings following council or board meetings to discuss how effectively the code of conduct guided the discussion.
- Revisit it regularly: Council or board members should approach their code of conduct as a living document to be reviewed and amended from time to time, to ensure that it remains a relevant and effective tool. At a minimum, councils and boards are required to consider updating their code of conduct following a general local election; however, it is encouraged that councils and board review it more often than once per term.

MODEL CODE OF CONDUCT <sup>1</sup>

A. INTRODUCTION

As local elected representatives (“members”), we recognize that responsible conduct is essential to providing good governance for the [city / municipality / regional district / district] of [name of local government].

We further recognize that responsible conduct is based on the foundational principles of integrity, accountability, respect, and leadership and collaboration.

In order to fulfill our obligations and discharge our duties, we are required to conduct ourselves to the highest ethical standards by being an active participant in ensuring that these foundational principles, and the standards of conduct set out below, are followed in all of our dealings with every person, including those with other members, staff, and the public.

B. HOW TO APPLY AND INTERPRET THIS CODE OF CONDUCT

This code of conduct applies to the members of [city / municipality / regional district / district] of [name of local government]. It is each member’s individual responsibility to uphold both the letter and the spirit of this code of conduct in their dealings with other members, staff, and the public.

Elected officials must conduct themselves in accordance with the law. This code of conduct is intended to be developed, interpreted and applied by members in a manner that is consistent with all applicable federal and provincial laws, as well as the bylaws and policies of the local government, the common law and any other legal obligations which apply to members individually or as a collective council or board.

<sup>1</sup> Some sections of this code of conduct include additional information in a shaded box. This information is for guidance and context only and is not intended to be included in a local government’s code of conduct.

C. FOUNDATIONAL PRINCIPLES OF RESPONSIBLE CONDUCT

Information about the Foundational Principles:

The foundational principles of integrity, respect, accountability and leadership and collaboration have been identified by the Working Group on Responsible Conduct as being important to promoting and furthering responsible conduct and should be incorporated into every code of conduct.

A high-level definition of each foundational principle, along with a general description of the type of conduct that upholds each principle, is provided below. These principles are intended to provide members with a shared understanding of responsible conduct and guide them in fulfilling their roles and responsibilities both as individual elected officials and as a collective council or board. Key standards of conduct are set out in subsequent sections of this model code of conduct to provide specific examples of the types of conduct that demonstrate the foundational principles.

These four principles, in conjunction with the key standards of conduct, can be used as a guide for elected officials against which to assess their own conduct.

1. Integrity – means conducting oneself honestly and ethically.
2. Respect – means valuing the perspectives, wishes, and rights of others.
3. Accountability – means an obligation and willingness to accept responsibility or to account for one’s actions.
4. Leadership and Collaboration – means an ability to lead, listen to, and positively influence others; it also means coming together to create or meet a common goal through collective efforts.

D. OPTIONAL: VALUE STATEMENTS

Information about including Value Statements:

A council or board may wish to customize their code of conduct to include ‘value statements’. These are high-level statements that identify the values that the council or board consider important and feels should be included for context in their code of conduct.

A council or board may find the “Companion Guide” to this code of conduct useful as they consider how ‘value statements’ may be incorporated into their own code of conduct.

E. STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

Information about the Standards of Conduct:

The following section provides general standards of conduct that reflect the foundational principles identified above. A council or board can customize their code of conduct by including additional standards of conduct, or by expanding on existing standards of conduct to more clearly demonstrate how a member can exemplify responsible conduct.

A council or board may find the “Companion Guide” to this code of conduct useful as they consider how these general standards of conduct may be customized to best fit their needs.

A council or board may want to include enforcement mechanisms to support compliance of their code of conduct. These mechanisms may include informal resolution, administratively fair and formal complaint processes, third-party investigators, and sanctions. Local governments are always first encouraged to focus on continuous improvement to foster responsible conduct, maintain good governance, and resolve conduct issues informally. A council or board may want to consult the “Companion Guide” and the “Forging the Path to Responsible Conduct in Your Local Government” guide for tips and resources that support the development of practical enforcement mechanisms.

G. OPTIONAL: ADDITIONAL POLICIES

Information about including Additional Policies:

*A council or board may choose to include additional policies as part of their code of conduct. These additional policies may be useful in addressing matters of importance that require deeper attention or that are connected to the four foundational principles.
